CIRCLE OF FRIENDS of ANALYTICAL (JUNGIAN) PSYCHOLOGY

We would like to invite you to join or renew your membership in a unique Circle of Friends of Analytical Psychology. Analytical Psychology, established by Carl Gustav Jung (of Zürich, Switzerland), focuses on meaning and spirituality as the core of mental health. The Circle of Friends endowment complements the endowed Frank N. McMillan, Jr. Professorship of Analytical Psychology, the endowed Carolyn & Ernest Fay Lecture and Book Series in Analytical Psychology, the Shirley Bazar Steer endowed for the Analytical Psychology Book Section and Mabel McMillan's endowment for an adjacent Reading Area in the Department of Psychology's Selis Resource Collection. The Circle of Friends endowment enables us to support graduate students in analytical (Jungian) psychology at the pre-doctoral level, help support visiting lecturers and researchers, fund post-doctoral positions in analytical psychology, as well as publish worthy doctoral dissertations as research monographs.

"The whole has the form of a mandala (circle)."
-C.G. Jung

"The circle is the highest emblem in the cipher of the world."
-Ralph Waldo Emerson

The market value of our endowment as of 2/31/09 is $95,000.00. We would appreciate new and additional contributions to be fully available for current use to support our graduate students, rather than placed into the endowment. If you agree, please indicate "for current use" in your correspondence with the gift.

The endowment is handled by the Texas A&M Foundation and all donations are tax deductible to the extent allowed by law. There are four levels of membership in the Circle of Friends of Analytical Psychology at Texas A&M University.

Patron ($10,000 or more)  Sponsor ($5,000 or more)  Benefactors ($1,000 or more)

Member ($100 or more), Senior ($50 or more), Student ($25 or more)

Please become a part of or increase your contribution to this growing circle. The Circle is a mandala and symbol of the Self and represents wholeness, individuation, and self-actualization. When you make a gift to the Circle of Friends of Analytical Psychology, checks should be made out to the "Texas A&M Foundation-Circle of Friends" and sent directly to Dr. David Rosen. To assist graduate students working with Dr. Rosen at this time, indicate "for current use" in your correspondence with the gift. A pre-paid envelope is enclosed for your convenience. All individuals making up the Circle of Friends will be duly acknowledged by name in any subsequent publications or activities based on this endowment.

"All true things must change and only that which changes remains true."
-C.G. Jung

"Alone we can do so little, together we can do so much."
-Helen Keller
